

Semi-Truck Accidents

Semi-truck accidents involve very different issues than car accidents. The laws governing semi-trucks and the trucking industry are very different than those governing passenger cars. Kansas City truck accident attorney Denise Henning has the experience necessary to handle these complex cases.

Semi-truck cases involve the application and interpretation of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations, which govern the everyday tasks of the truck driver and the trucking company. You need an attorney who will investigate such issues as keeping accurate logbooks and recording hours of service, maintaining the truck, loading and unloading, random and post-accident drug and alcohol testing, and the qualifications, training and supervision of the drivers. America's highways are flooded with large semi-trucks trying to meet delivery deadlines imposed by their employers. Trucking companies have difficulty finding enough qualified drivers, so they resort to hiring unqualified drivers, pushing their drivers to deliver even when they are fatigued, and ignoring substance abuse problems with drivers. These practices lead to more semi-truck accidents, which are usually deadly and catastrophic.

Highway Defects

If you have been injured in an accident caused by or made worse by a defect in the design of the highway, The Henning Law Firm can help you pursue compensation for your personal injuries. At the Henning Law Firm, we have experience in highway defect litigation and know where to look and what information to acquire to prove that the defect was the cause or a contributing cause of your injuries. Suing the highway department is different than suing another motorist or corporate entity. There are certain laws that pertain only to the highway department.

Bicycle & Motorcycle Accidents

Bicycle and motorcycle accidents are usually very tragic and fall under a cloud of unique public scrutiny. Unfortunately, police and bystanders often want to immediately blame the bicyclist or motorcyclist for the accident. We thoroughly investigate every case and will hire expert witnesses, such as accident reconstructionists, who will evaluate the scientific facts of your case and explain how an accident actually happened. If you have been a victim of a bicycle or motorcycle accident, you need an experienced lawyer who will discover the facts to make sure you are fully compensated for your injuries.

Product Liability

Dangerous and defective products can cause serious injury, and be a contributing factor in other injuries. When a manufacturer designs a product, it must keep in mind all reasonable foreseeable uses and design a product that is reasonably safe. Whether the product is a tire that falls apart, a dishwasher that catches on fire, a medical device that fails, or a baby product that causes harm, experience in product liability law is very important. It is essential to discover other injured individuals with similar injuries to prove your case to the jury. At The Henning Law Firm, we will thoroughly investigate every detail of your case to determine what happened and identify each entity that is responsible for your injuries. We will hire expert witnesses who will help evaluate your case and explain it to the jury.

Workplace Accidents

Catastrophic injury in the workplace may involve a third party liability claim and claims for workers compensation benefits. If a third party, other than the employer, is at fault there may be an avenue of recovery other than workers compensation benefits. Contact us if you have been injured on the job and you think someone besides your employer may be partially at fault. At The Henning Law Firm, we will do the investigation necessary to determine who all the responsible parties might be and help you recover for your personal injuries.
